JAMES F. DAVIS DEAD

Former Resident of Maryville Died of Cancer at Louisville, Ky., Yesterday.

Mr. Davis came to Maryville in 1873 and worked for Briggs Bros., for two years. He then worked for M. Nusbaum, the clothier, until 1884. ## GIVES MEXICO TALK

REV. FRED M. BAILEY TELLS OF "LAND OF TOMORROW."

NATION MISUNDERSTOOD

Lecturer Opens Weeks' Services in Honor of 50th Anniversary of First Methodist Church.

"The reason that the people of the United States do not appreciate the greatness of Mexico is because of ignorance," according to the Rev. Fred M. Bailey of Ottawa, Kan., who lectured at the First Methodist church last night on "Mexico, the Land of Tomorrow." This was the first of the week's meetings in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the church.

"Whenever we have heretofore thought of Mexico," said Reverend Bailey, "we have thought of it as a nation of a different type from our own. We have hardly realized that it is one which adjoins ours. And it has been only during the last few years that we have appreciated the possible financial strength of Mexico."

He discussed Mexico from the standpoints of antique things, scenery, natural resources and the people therein. Relics, which have been found, indicate a people who lived there nearly 2,000 years ago, and if the history of many relics could be traced back, it is believed that they would show an age of at least 6,000 years old, and this is the number of years back to which the Chinese attribute their civilization.

The scenery of Mexico compares favorably with any of that in the world. People who have been in Mexico say that the mountains there are as beautiful as those in Switzerland.

Mexico is the land for natural gardening, says Reverend Bailey. The people of the United States don't know what truck gardening is in comparison with Mexico. Strawberries are in season there the year around.

"The greatest mistake that has come to Mexico in recent years was the deposition of General Diaz," declared Reverend Bailey. "Although he was a strict ruler, he was for the Mexican people. Huerta was another good president, but the revolutionists would not let him rule either.

"The average Mexican is an imitator. He loves to imitate the white man in clothes and in manners. The old-time Mexican was an honest man, and it has only been since the United States people have been there in large numbers that dishonesty has developed. A few years ago a miner could not have lost a bag of metal. If he should accidentally drop one somewhere, the natives would look all day or night until they found the owner.

"The salvation of Mexico lies in the public school system. The schools are very inefficient now. The teachers try to imitate the American methods, but they are so unfamiliar with them that the schools are not very much patterned after our type."

Preceding the lecture, Miss Carrie Margaret Baker played the "C Sharp Minor Chopin Etude."

The Rev. Fred W. Simpson of Shenandoah, Ia., will give the address this evening. His subject will be: "Job, the Master Character of Literature." A quartet composed of Mrs. F. P. Robinson, Miss Nelle Wray, H. H. Mutz and the Rev. Gilbert S. Cox will sing "In This Hour of Softened Splendor," (Pinsuti), and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," (Old English). Mrs. E. F. Wolfert, accompanist.

An Old Citizen Gone.

The passing away of Matthew Whiteford, which occurred at his home south of Guilford on Sept. 5, 1917, has removed from our midst one of Nodaway county's oldest and honored citizens.

Mr. Whiteford was born in County Antrim, Ireland, Nov. 11, 1832. He was the son of John and Rachel Whiteford.

When a boy 12 years of age he accompanied his parents to America and with them settled in Dearborn county, Indiana, where he grew to manhood. On January 1, 1863 he was married to Mary Beggs and in the following year he came with his young wife to Nodaway county, and settled near Guilford, where he lived until the time of his death.

There were five daughters born to this home, all of whom remain to comfort the widowed mother in the great sorrow which has come in her advanced age. These daughters are: Mrs. Dora McLean of Savannah; Mrs. Florence Parr, of Hamilton; Mrs. Emma DeMoss of Stanberry; Mrs. Eunice M. Parr, and Mrs. Rachel Wray, both of Guilford. Besides these upon whose lives the shadows and grief has fallen heavily, there are ten grandchildren and two brothers, Wilson Whiteford of Canon City, Colo., and Robert Whiteford of Moores Hill, Ind.

The religious faith of Brother Whiteford's early life was that of the Presbyterian church in which he was reared. Under the ministry of Rev. J. S. Bowles he united with the M. E. church, South, of Guilford, Feb. 25, 1894, in which he remained until the time of his death.

Mr. Whiteford was widely known in Northwest Missouri as a prominent figure in the early development of the country. He was an advocate of the things that meant progress in the community and society. He was a ceaseless toiler, managing his large farming and stock raising interests to the close of his life. In his home and among the large circle of his friends he will be missed.

The funeral services were conducted from the M. E. church, South, Friday morning, Sept. 7, 1917, by the pastor, Rev. O. E. Lockart and his body was laid to rest in the Graves cemetery beneath a beautiful floral offering.

The boys are to peel the potatoes. Mr. Kelly was accompanied here by Mrs. Kelly and they left today for Lenox, Ia.

TELLS OF ELARTON'S DEATH

Salida, Colo., Mail Has Story of A Former Quitman Resident's Electrocution.

The Salida, Colo., Mail had the following about the accident and death of John E. Elarton, formerly a resident of Quitman:

John Sanford Elarton, 64 years old, was electrocuted Tuesday afternoon at the upper plant of the Colorado Power company, near Maysville, when his head struck a wire carrying 17,000 volts of electricity.

He fell back from the wire into a big transformer, where a steady current of equal voltage passed through his body for several minutes until the plant was shut down to extricate him. The flesh on his arms and legs was cooked by the current and the clothing caught fire. It was necessary to use an extinguisher to extinguish the burning clothing which threatened to consume the body.

Dr. Cochens was called in the hope that life was not extinct. The doctor arrived at the plant thirty minutes later with an oxygen tank, but Mr. Elarton was dead.

Apparently he was killed instantly and before he fell backwards into the transformer.

Mr. Elarton came to Salida Dec. 15, 1916, from Kansas, and took a position at the Salida Power plant as fireman. He had been a railroad fireman in his youth and later followed the trade of stationary engine fireman.

It was necessary to make repairs on the line poles near the upper plant Tuesday and Elarton was sent up that morning. He was trying to remove a cross bar from a pole but the bolt would not turn and he went into the power house for a monkey wrench. He asked two workmen, who told him where the wrench was, and said they would get it for him as soon as they had completed some work then in hand. Elarton walked away and a short time afterwards one of the workmen started for the wrench which was in another part of the building. As he entered the door he saw a flash, and running forward, discovered Elarton falling backwards into the transformer. The wrench was on the floor of an elevated platform a few feet from the floor.

The main feed wires from the plant are a few feet over the platform and it would be necessary for a man to stoop when on the platform.

Elarton, who was not familiar with the power house, had climbed upon the platform and straightened up.

The wire struck his hat over the forehead and burned three round holes into the brain, emerging from the hand, which also was perforated with holes burned by the current.

Elarton fell off the platform backwards and landed on the transformer where his body lay. The plant was shut down three minutes while the body was removed.

Coroner Phalen was notified and made an investigation.

The body was brought to the Wenz undertaking rooms.

Mr. Elarton was born March 26, 1853, at Jackson, Ohio. He is survived by his wife, five sons, two daughters, his mother and four brothers. The sons are: O. W. Elarton, Salida, a miner; H. S. Elarton, Lander, Wyo.; J. E. Elarton, Salida, a miner; O. D. Elarton, Twin Falls, Idaho; Ralph D. Elarton, Iola, Kan. All the sons except H. S. Elarton came to Salida to attend the funeral.

E. L. Elarton of Argonia, Kan., a brother, also came to attend the funeral.

The daughters are: Mrs. H. A. Ware, Kansas City; and Miss Katherine Elarton, Salida.

His mother and three brothers are residents of Argonia, Kan., and one brother, a resident of Chicago.

The funeral was held at 2 o'clock from the family residence, 124 D street, the Rev. E. H. Cook officiating.

Awaiting Motherhood

Women, almost without exception, are prone to nervous apprehension when on the road to motherhood. A woman knows that however many people there are close or dear to her, she must face the crisis alone.

There is nothing today prepared for women at such a time that receives such heartfelt expressions of gratitude as does the absolutely safe, tried and reliable preparation, "Mother's Friend".

By the use of this penetrating massage, the expanding muscles of the abdomen relax naturally when baby arrives. The nerves, ligaments and tendons beneath the skin are soothed; the tendency to morning nausea is avoided, and the expectant mother enjoys days of cheerfulness. The nights are not disturbed with nervous twitchings and the crisis is one of great happiness and less pain.

Get a bottle from the druggist and write the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. N, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., for their interesting little book, "Motherhood and the Baby". It will be sent without charge to any woman. "Mother's Friend" is a wonderful help to nature and no woman should fail, by any chance, to apply it herself night and morning.
